Catherine – As a FYI, I've pasted below something that Yintak sent to me earlier this week when I was looking into summarizing the studies. I can't recall if I forwarded this earlier or not but wanted to at least make you aware with respect to cancer.

I know you all are really busy, but we could really use a quick answer from you.

Is the health advisory level for PFOA of 70 ng/L protective for non cancer endpoints only?

Although there is a cancer slope factor for PFOA, there is insufficient information about cancer to calculate a cancer endpoint?

How does EPA calculate their cancer slop factors?

Thanks so much. We really appreciate your help!

Mina
